

Hunting Titan Rifles

On the hunting ground, every shot counts. Hunting success and correct procedure depends on the precision and handling of the weapon when making the shot. The Titan impressively combines all the properties of a reliable repeating rifle. In the decisive seconds before the shot, operation is quick and easy, and firing is accurate. Sturdy in finish and elegant in appearance, the Titan copes with all the demands of everyday hunting. The walnut stock is fitted with a roll over cheek piece for the standard weapon or with the Bavarian cheek piece for the Luxury version. The Exclusive version finally sports a Bavarian double cheek. The action system is safely embedded in the stock using synthetic resin.

Titan rifles are available in all main calibres from .222 Rem. to 9.3 x 62, a calibre for every type of hunting. The barrel is manufactured from specialist gun barrel steel and fitted in the action-casing with a recoil bed. This technology allows for an interchangeable barrel system, which in turn allows the hunter to change calibre for different quarry species. A great plus point for the hunter, who may want to use the same weapon for both hunting from a hide and tracking.
